Helix Australia specialises in the breeding, licensing and marketing of new and improved varieties of Waxflower and Boronia. Established in 2008, Helix Australia has become the global leader in Waxflower and Boronia breeding targeting both the cut flower and landscape sectors. Our highly sophisticated Waxflower and Boronia breeding program develops vastly improved flowering characteristics including exciting new colours, unique petal shapes, extended flowering times and improved plant vigour. In addition to our own breeding and new variety selection program, Helix Australia works exclusively with the Waxflower and Boronia breeding programmes at Kings Park and Botanic Garden and Department of Primary Industries and Regional Development (W.A.)
